GIFTS SHARED

It's hard to believe that summer is coming to an end and we are already heading for the beautiful season of autumn. Autumn is the season when the Pennsylvania hills come alive with color. What were once green leaves become reds, yellows, oranges and browns. As I watch the green leaves change colors it always reminds me of the uniqueness of each person. While we are all the same in some ways our uniqueness comes from within. We all have different gifts, and when we allow our gifts to work in harmony with those of others we take part in enriching our world.

Recently, as we witnessed the horrific events caused by "Harvey" we also witnessed groups of people who exemplified the principle that when everyone gives 100%, heroic things can happen. These groups consisted of people of all ages coming together to provide aide in any way they could, rather it be by rescuing survivors, sorting donations the came by the thousands, providing shelter, or serving a meal. The groups worked countless hours as a team with true respect for one another regardless of age, race, color or gender. Not once in all the days that followed was there a single person claiming to be better than the rest. In their minds they were one. They listened and learned from one another. They exemplified the true meaning of Christ's teaching "Love your neighbor as yourself" This is what will change our world.
